A site in Potomac Park, Washington, was selected for the memorial to Abraham Lincoln.

The price of rubber footwear has been reduced to an average of between 9 and 10 per cent by the United States Rubber Company.

Bentleyville, Ky., Feb. 2.—Four hundred thousand timber staves, valued at $10,000, were swept away from here to-day when an ice gorge in the Kentucky river broke.

The pension appropriation bill, carrying $12,000,000, passed the House Friday. Provision of the bill abolishes a centenarian pension, one of which is located in Lexington.

New York, Feb. 3.—Edwin H. Key, a son of the Minneapolis St. Louis railroad and one of the leading citizens in that city, has been dead at his home here three after a illness of several weeks.

A bomb was discovered by Mrs. Helen L. and their son in New York City in a box Saturday night. She opened the package and it exploded killing her almost instantaneously.

A unifying Sunday school, and is favored by the general carpenter and field workers of the International Sunday-school Association in session at Indianapolis.

Adeline Ragland, who is said to have reached the remarkable old age of 115 years, and was one of the best-known negro women of Warren county, died at her home in Bowling Green, after a lingering illness. Enim I. G. Logan, of Kentwood, and Mammoth Cave to President Coolidge as a testimonial for his services, when he called at the White House in the interest of the Mammoth Cave park bill.

Mrs. Jeannine R. Henry, aged 80, and wife of the conductor, the tunnel or her aunt, Mrs. Fuller, who was accidentally killed in the Vicksburg last week. First she was a woman to conduct a funeral in this city.

The Senate passed the Hobart bill, creating a Children's Bureau in the Department of Commerce and Labor. Ensign R. C. Saufley, U. S. N., of Kent, Ky., was practically exonerated yesterday by the finding in a court martial recently terminated. He will be reprimanded with no loss of pay.

Latest advice from Frankfort indicates that the proposed new county bill, creating the county of "McCroary" out of parts of Wayne, Pulaski and Whitley, is practically sure of defeat. This is good news to the people of Wayne, almost all of whom are opposed to the new county, and with good reason, as it would make taxes much higher in Wayne and still higher in the new county.

There is no real need for a new county, and it should be defeated by all means.

The old custom of applying the terms "brother" and "sister" among the members of churches, and especially among those of the same denomination, seems to have passed away. It is still used by only one denomination that we know of, and possibly the clergy of others in some instances use it, but the fifty

Friday evening J. H. Mose, who lives near the creek and his wife, attracted by an object it was on the bank, and on investigation found to be a dead man, was buried in a box in the cemetery of the church of the same name, a mile from town.

It is the custom to bury the deceased in a box in the cemetery. Mose was a man of 70 years of age, and his wife is a widow of 65 years.

He was buried in a box

in the cemetery.

The deceased Mose was Peter the famous actor of the day, and the widow of the famous actress, who were killed in the express.

The dead had submitted a motion to Congress upon the Alaskan and another asking authority to invoke other nations to act in a confederacy upon a high cost of living.

Cincinnati, Feb. 3.—Humane Society officers here witnessed a tragic performance given by a seven-year-old boy whose ankles and wrists had been broken when he was ten days old in order to make him an orphan and wedged in a younger brother of his. Next to Greek Nest told the officers that he had broken the wrists and ankles of his son when he was ten days old and the other began trading on the boy as an orphan, as no one in the officers decided not to interfere with Nest's plan of disowning the child, but exacted a promise that no public exhibition would be given by the child for at least five years.

Stanford, Ky., Feb. 3.—Grove T. Kennedy, aged seventy-two years, died at his home near Crab Orchard this morning after a short illness of double pneumonia. Mr. Kennedy was one of the best known men in this part of the State. He had no world of trouble, but had a host of friends throughout his life and he irritated a considerable competence, notwithstanding he was at great expense on account of many legal entanglements.

Kennedy shot his uncle, E. B. Kennedy, to death at Lancaster about thirty-five years ago and after a hard legal fight was sentenced to twenty-one years in the penitentiary. He was pardoned by Gov. Luke Blackburn after serving three years. In his later years he attracted considerable attention at first on account of the hard light he made to secure his release of his three sons from the penitentiary, where they had been sent on various murder and manslaughter charges.

He had the satisfaction of dying with the knowledge that all had been released, two having been paroled and one dying a few months ago.

Looks like Perum's all well, have ready ding soon. —Maysville Poodle ledger.

While out hunting last week just above Emily's run Tandy Peniston and Elmer Carter shot and killed what they supposed to be a veritable wildcat. It was a dark gray striped animal of the cat species, nearly as large as an ordinary bird.

It is to be hoped that the Legislature will, during the present session, pass a law carrying into effect the constitutional amendment giving the people of Kentucky a right to bear arms in case of a rebellion.

Capt. T. Hall, of the Confederate Cavalry, is here this week leading the parade of a 4th regt. of the 11th, there are about 150 men at the home coming from 60 to 75 years of age, and the place is a mass of debris of the war, and unable to be undone for the comfort and welfare of the veterans. What a sight.

Adolph William Russell Hawkins, of Frankfort, Ky., is probably the best "grandmothered" boy in the Union. He has seven of them. He died last year he had eight, but one of them has died, first of all, Adolph has two everyday grandmothers. They are Mrs. Susan Mary Whalen, of Lawrenceburg, and Mrs. Alice Whalen, of Harrodsburg. Their great grandmothers are Mrs. Elizabeth Whalen and Mrs. Anna Johnson and Mrs. Whalen, of Lawrenceburg, Ky.

Now then comes a perfectly good black cat grandmother in the person of Mrs. Lucretia Whitinghall, of Cincinnati.

Do you know my reader that the man more is about the best money maker for the farmer that you can command at the highest price. The average value of a hog, big or little, is $4.55.

The average for a sheep is $3.50; for a cow, $17.39; for a milch cow, $32.66; for a sheep $3.13; for a horse, $85.64. But a long-eared, all-American male, gaunt and gaunt though he be, $107.84 is as price, big and little, up and down the land. A team of mules weighing 2,500 to 2,800 pounds is worth $500 hitched to any wagon.

As far as the horse the mule is easier to raise and it has the powerful nine lives of the cat. Swap your mule and you have a right to it in exchange thirty sheep, seventeen pigs, six steers or three cows.

There is money in mules, but only one farmer in fifty is acting upon this hunch. —Richmond Climax

Eddyville, Ky., Jan. 31.—Charles Howard, a negro, was electrocuted at 5 o'clock this morning for the murder of Ed Rice in Frankfort a year ago. Howard walked to the death chair without a visible tremor. After the condemned man had been placed in the chair, the straps were loosened and the electrical connection adjusted, the Rev. Mr. Holton offered a prayer in his behalf. Chief Engineer C. W. Dopp touched the button that released the electrical current and in one minute Howard was pronounced dead.

The electrocution took place in the presence of Warden H. T. Hagerman, Deputy Warden E. M. Taylor, C. B. Miller, William Wilson, Prison Physician R. M. Moss, Chaplain, Rev. A. Soltan, Chief Engineer C. W. Dopp and Assistants from Louisville Guards James Black, C. S. Glenn, J. M. Robertson, Mac A. Brown, L. M. Hurson and E. J. Brown.

Vanceburg, Ky., Jan. 31.—Perry Filders, charged with murdering Tom Fitch last February while attempting to arrest him under a warrant for a misdemeanor, was to-day acquitted by a jury from Greenup county.

The case was probably the hardest fought in the history of Lewis county. The indictment was returned in May and the first trial in September resulted in a hung jury, seven being for conviction and five for acquittal. The case was then

What's the use of the legislature putting thousands of dollars in a fish hatchery to stock the streams of the State with fish? Is it that the scoundrelly dynamiter may destroy them faster than they can be reproduced? First pass a law to not permit the dynamiter and other 14th destroyers out of business and then go after the hatchery. This kind of outlaw would be in his glory with the taxpayers furnishing the fish. Hartford Herald.

JOSH BILLINGS ON FEBRUARY.

Josh Billings, the late writer of humor, in his almanac, describes the month of February as follows and he hits it pretty well, so far as the present month is concerned. Josh says:

"This month has but 28 days, the extreme cold weather that prevails has pucker up the month. Once in four years there is a big melt, and then the month swells, and has 29 days. This month is looked upon as unpleasant, and it is unpleasant for digging out woodchucks, but for setting in front of the fire, and skinning apples and snapping the seeds at the galls, it can't be beat. The name of this month is derived from an old Chinese word now lost which means condemn cold."

than Peter's Law, as, Louisville

Ky. says, "I was in constant misery from kidney complaint. It is a good for life or ten minutes and I mean to tempted to get up. It seemed as if in heavy weight were tied to my back and it at times sharp pained down through my kidneys. When I stooped, respiration swing'd darted throughout my body, being particularly severe in my kidneys, hips and joints. The kidney secretions were sometimes purer than again there was almost a complete cessation. I also noticed that the kidney secretions seared in passage and contained sediment. When almost disengaged, I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and the contents of three boxes made me feel like a different man, will be glad to corroborate every word of this statement to anyone who calls upon me."

Mr. Peters gave the above account of his experience with Doan's Kidney Pills in January 1908, and when interviewed on Jan. 21, 1909, he said: "The public statement I gave in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills last year still holds good."

The Famous Rayo Lamp

The best part of the day is the evening, when the whole family is gathered together around the lamp.

The old days of the smoky fireplace and flickering candle are gone forever. In their place have come the convenient oil stove and the indispensable Rayo Lamp.

There are to-day in the United States alone, more than 3,000,000 of these Rayo lamps, giving their clear, white light to more than 3,000,000 homes.

Other lamps cost more, but you cannot get a better light than the low-priced Rayo lamp. It has become so popular we may almost call it "the official lamp of the American family."

The Rayo is made of solid brass, with handsome nickel finish—an ornament anywhere.

Tug we hear the shrill whistle of the iron horse carrying the coal that God has spread in lavish abundance in West Virginia and Kentucky. They knew but little of right and wrong and lived by hunting and warfare. Across the ocean came a barque bearing the seeds of life and death; the seeds of death sprang up in the path of the native Indians and they are gone from here. In the warfare of life it proves to us clearly that no nation can stand that neglects a Christian education. Babylon once illuminated the world with intellect and education. What long procession of storms put out this light? What discord drove the music from the palace halls that filled the banquets to their revel and dances to their feet? What battering ram smote the walls. What plowshare upturned the once beautiful garden? Ah! Babylon neglected the Christian education and is fallen. Take Rome that sat on her seven hills and ruled the world; became a city of plunder and pillage; her people became outlaws because they favored vice instead of virtue until the gathered rage of a thousand years burst forth in one awful hour and Rome was destroyed by the Northern barbarians.

When the battle between right and wrong takes place and wrong prevails you soon see what follows. God placed it in the hearts of good men to help establish schools and colleges where children can be taught not only what the text books contain but a vast knowledge of how to fight the battles of life. We help my friends, to decide all the battles in the human breast.

I desire to ask you now which side are you on? You and I are forced to make this decision in the formation of our character. If you have not made this decision do not delay. Now is the accepted time to help build and mold that splendid character like other noble men born in Kentucky. Such men as Abe Lincoln when he was shot down, above demoniac hiss of the assassin's bullet, heard the voice of God and knelt to the divine decree and with the noble spirit said "God's will be done. I am ready if my time has come." Such victories are possible to him or her who accepts the great alliance who in the phrase of Paul the apostle, is willing to be a fellow workman with God. That man, that woman, in accepting the universe takes infinite power as an ally. For thus the apostle of the highest manhood and womanhood keeps himself pure. The world that is from above is most pure and it is the pure in heart, who are God and they only. Character is a foundation stone on which that city of God is to be built and you, reader and gentleman, build as of straw and stubble. If that foundation is not right it is to be and will be destroyed by the world.

As God is God and right is right and the day will win. To doubt would be doomsday. To falter would be sin.

We must look for and expect higher and better educated men a whole nation will change in stature when they know they are wrong. In 1838 war was declared between our government and Spain. At the entrance of the Caribbean Sea lies the island of Cuba. War and oppression had been going on there for 300 years. The United States notified the Spanish Government it must stop brutality and it did not this government of ours would intervene for the sake of humanity. The battle ship Maine was sent on a peaceful voyage to Havana Harbor and while there it charged the treacherous Spanish and secret torpedoes to destroy our ship, our men and our flag. Down went the magnificent battleship carrying with it 266 American soldiers and seamen into a watery grave forever and where the blood-dyed waters swept from shore to shore in the Orient made them sacred and consecrated forever. The cry of war went forth from every city and town and from every cabin in the mountain of Kentucky and throughout this great broad land of ours. There stood one great stalwart President Major McKinley, our fallen Cleopatra, trying to solve the question without the shedding of blood, but the people demanded action. He said, go pick up our flag that is still wet with the blood of our martyrs and carry it on to victory. He telegraphed George Dewey in foreign waters to go forth and capture or destroy the Spanish fleet. On Dewey sailed into Manila Bay over beds of dynamite packed in the silence of night, and when the sun arose, one solid phalanx came forth to fight for God and right and in thirty minutes there was not a Spanish vessel left to tell the tale. It only shows, my friends, what we can do when we are in earnest in fighting the battle of right. He patriotic, love your country as your God, serve both. HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

COLUMN DEDICATED TO TIRED MOTHERS AS THEY JOIN THE HOME CIRCLE.

How great a beauty and blessing it is to hold the royal gifts of the soul so that they shall be music to some and fragrance to others, a life to all! Some women cling to their homes like the honeysuckle over the door, yet, like it, sweeten all the region with the soft fragrance of their goodness.

A sunshiny husband makes a merry, beautiful home, worth watching in and for. If the man is breezy, cheery, considerate and sympathetic, the wife shuns in her heart over-puddings and mending baske, as I counts the hours till he returns at night and renewes her youth in the security she feels of his approbation and admiration.

Men give up a great deal for their families—their time, their strength, the knowledge they have gained in life's experiences—they spend everything freely for their home's sake, and the home should pay its debt in much outspoken love.

It is wicked to loaf. Every man is created for a purpose and he has no right to shirk that responsibility. If you have friends in money that simply turn us over to us, we are No man has a right to loaf. Nothing can be more humiliating to a parent than to know that his son is a confirmed lazie, a mere blank absorbing his living from the full of other hands and creating nothing.

Let us build our home on the hill-top of cheerfulness, so high that no shadows may rest upon it and where the morning comes early and the evening taries late. She is to be plighted whose house is in some valley of gloom, with the longest night and shortest day. God has put us here to make the world brighter and happier by our lives and every one of us should study how to be a blessing to others. We must get the wrinkles out of our brow and we must have smiling

THE SENIOR PARTNER was disturbed. The little boy of one of the firm's traveling men was critically ill. The distracted mother begged that her husband be notified.

A Long Distance Bell Telephone call located him, but he had gone to a neighboring town to sell goods.

Would the Telephone people reach him? The Telephone people would try. They found him and he started for home at once.

The Universal Bell Telephone System is a national search-light. It seeks the distant person for you and locates him if it is possible.

By the way, have you a Bell Telephone?

faces. Let a man go home at night worn and wearied by the toils of the day and how soulthng is a word dictated by a cheerful disposition. It is soulthng telling on his heart. He is happy and the cares of life are forgotten. Smiles, kind word and looks characterize the children, and peace and love have their dwellings there. Home should be the center of joy.

"Now run away, dear, father is busy." "Don't be troublesome, dear mother must do her work."

Do not mother at your home work, father in your study do not always "too busy." The little heart wants an outlet, the upper hand wants a rest, the little heart is too young to fully understand the words, but the mother will assume the proportions of a mountain. A tendency to neglect is to be kept among the children, and almost before the parents are aware there is a chronic condition of unpleasantness in the home. Young married people especially need to learn control in this direction. Another disagreeable trait to be guarded against is the habit, peculiar to some people, of always being on the opposite side of a question. It alienates them to the good points of a like purpose.

In every home there is bound to be a want of understanding. Good will, cordiality, interest, sympathy, conversion in such a home give on the child.

When we get to the world beyond, we will find that the plain truth is that the world is so sweet that there is no pleasure to look upon from the most perfect. After all, it is an terrible expression that the devil is in us.

So that when some one is possessed of the secret of beauty for twenty-five cents and a post-paid envelope, it would scarcely be an imposition should he return the golden rule with insincerity to parents and practice it. If we only could do this earnestly and truly for one generation the next might wonder whether it were not aforesaid that such a thing as ugliness was ever known upon earth.

Man has done wonders since he came before the public. He has navigated the ocean, he has penetrated the mysteries of the sky and heavens, he has harnessed the lightning and made it pull stock and light the greatest cities of the world. But he can't find a good old thread. In his wife's work box, for instance, he can't discover her pocket or a dress hanging in a closet, he can't hang out clothes and get the oil of the line the right side up, and he can't hold clothespins in his mouth while he is doing it, either. He can't sit in a rocking chair without sawing the rockers into the boards. He cannot put the tidy on the floor right side up. He can't sew on a button. In short, he can't do a hundred things that women do almost instinctively.

A man cannot do two things at a time. A woman will broil a steak and see and go down without a word.

KEITH OF THE BORDER

A TALE OF THE PLAINS

By RANDALL PARRISH

Author of "MY LADY OF THE SOUTH," "WHEN WILDERNESS WAS KING," etc.

Illustrations by DEARBORN MELVILLE.

(Copyright, A. C. McClurg & Co., 1890.)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Jess Keith, a typical borderman, is riding along the Salt Fork on the lookout for signs of war. Keith had won his spurs in a number of skirmishes, and had left the service to lead his old comrade, his friends scattered, and the fission of wild western life. He is alone, and he sees a campfire, attached to a log, and a tall gallop pursued by on ponies.

CHAPTER II.—When Keith reaches the camp, the riders have passed, and the smoke of a campfire is all that is visible. He has left the trail to find old southern camp in his friends scattered, and the fission of wild western life. He is alone, and he sees a campfire, attached to a log, and a tall gallop pursued by on ponies.

CHAPTER III.—When Keith reaches the camp, the riders have passed, and the smoke of a campfire is all that is visible. He has left the trail to find old southern camp in his friends scattered, and the fission of wild western life. He is alone, and he sees a campfire, attached to a log, and a tall gallop pursued by on ponies.

CHAPTER IV.—They can no longer come on Keith. They are still riding and retreating, but the trail is no longer given as "Look for the serious ruffian."

CHAPTER V.—Neb knows about the trail, and when he finds it again, Keith, his shadow, is still there. The other G. W. W. is still there, and in the Comanche camp.

CHAPTER VI.—The plainsman and the saddle found escape from the camp.

CHAPTER VII.—The two fugitives had lost in the sand traps.

CHAPTER VIII.—They come upon an old and lone occupant of a beautiful young girl. Keith recognizes her as a sister to see at Carson City.

CHAPTER IX.—The girl explains that she came into search of a brother who had disappeared from the trail. She is a sister to Hawley, who had induced her to come to the cabin while he sought to locate her brother.

CHAPTER X.—Hawley appears, and with his riding recognizes him as the notorious Black Bart. Hawley tries to make love to the girl.

CHAPTER XI.—There is a terrible fight in the darkened room in which Bart is overcome, and the girl says that his name is Hope. John in the camp.

CHAPTER XII.—Keith explains his situation as a fugitive from justice.

CHAPTER XIII.—The two fugitives meet at the foot of the Arkansas, aiming to reach Fort Union.

CHAPTER XIV.—Here the girl is left in charge of the hotel in Fort Union.

CHAPTER XV.—Keith is riding back to his horse, and is the saddle. He receives a letter bearing the name of Christie MacLaine, and an envelope. Mrs. Keith receives him in his cabin, and he tells her that he is a fugitive from justice, and that he has been a dragoon in the Cavalry.

CHAPTER XVI.—The first envelope sent him in Sherman, and it is an old and faint hand writing. The person who sent it is a brother of General Keith, the brother that is in the general service, and only the day previous.

CHAPTER XVII.—At the same time, Keith is buried by the tail of two men. During the afternoon, one of them is trying to find Black Bart, and his companion, Fred Will, or the assumed name of the man, Hope. Neb, who is the other man, Keith enters the room.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Interviewing Willoughby, yet without in the least heading how best to proceed, drew toward him the only chair room, and sat down. Miss more widely known as Christie—had elbowed this drunken her brother, but, according to he had vehemently denied a relationship. Yet there must previous association between and what this was the plainsman to discover. The problem best to cause the fellow rankly—could he be reached by reference to the girl ambler? Keith studying the instinctive face confronting a instinctive antagonism over, swiftly determined on.

The suggestion caused him to laugh at first; then his face suddenly sobered, as though a new thought had occurred to him.

"Damn me, an, it couldn't be that," he exclaimed, one hand pressing his head. "He couldn't be workin' no trick of that kind on me."

"Whom do you mean?"

"A fellow named Hawley," evasively.

"The man who claimed to have met my sister."

"Black Bart! Hawley?"

The boy tilted his head again, his eyes filled with suspense.

"Yes, if you must know; he's a tubber all right, but he's never been when I was down and out. You know him?"

"Just a little," carelessly; "but what sort of a trick could he be working trying to mislead you now?"

Willoughby did not answer at first, uneasily about on the bed. Keith waited, and at last the boy blurted out:

"Oh, it wasn't nothing much. I told him something when I was drunk once, that I thought might be a mistake, too, for I showed him my picture. Part of a sketch and I didn't know what he might have figured out in it, though. I don't see how he could. It wasn't no more than a joke, I reckon."

Willoughby appeared at the head of the bed, and his eyes softened. This was no use seeking again to arouse him, even had he been sober, he would not have talked freely yet. He took the boy's feet in his hands, and, after a moment, turned the boy over, went out, and latched the door. Two men were tramping heavily along the trail, and they turned into the hall. At the very moment he disappeared within his own room. He still reached his hand upon the latch when a voice from outside asked:

"What's that? What's that?"

Keith sprang up, and, as quickly as possible, he was dressed. He was not dressed to go to the door, but to the window. He had to go to the window to see who it was.

WONDERFUL CATARRH CURE

Glenhayes, W. Va., Jan. 1, 1912

Mr. W. D. Fitzpatrick,

Glenhayes, W. Va.

Dear Sir:—I bought one box of your great catarrh cure and used it according to directions, and now I can say and also swear that I am well. I had had the catarrh of the nose and head for five years; I had lost all hopes of ever getting a treatment that would cure me, but yours has done the work and I am so thankful to you, for you no doubt have saved my life as we are aware that catarrh causes consumption. I can't find words to express my thoughts and appreciations towards you and your great catarrh remedy as I would like to.

Yours very truly,

ORA ARTRIP.

This the 1st day of Jan., 1912, Ora Artrip personally appeared before me and duly swore that the above statement was true to the best of his knowledge, so help him God.

Given under my hand this the 1st of Jan., 1912.

W. J. CRUM,

Notary Public.

My commission expires Nov. 27th 1916.

Plains are now being drafted by Ashland architects for the new M. E. Church South, which will rise on the vacant end of the lot for the purchase of J. J. Johnson, on Main, near Hoffman-av. This will be another handsome building for our city, to add greatly to its material improvement. It will be in the near neighborhood of the Presbyterian church.

Nothing definite has yet been given out as to either the material or cost of construction.—Pikeville Advocate.
